EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

In response to public interest, the New York State Thruway Authority (NYSTA) is proposing to accommodate recreational visitors of the New New York Bridge's (NNYB)'s shared-use bicycle and pedestrian path (SUP) with parking and limited facilities. This memorandum presents AKRF's estimate of the parking demand associated with the SUP, which would be a 12-foot-wide path along the full extent of the northern bridge structure. There are limited resources and documentation on how to estimate parking demand generated by SUP facilities on bridges; thus, there is no standard methodology for approaching this task. As such, in order to provide a comprehensive parking demand estimate, the following methodology was developed and implemented:

- Step 1: Conduct document review of studies for existing bridges with SUP facilities
- Step 2: Collect in-person surveys and visitation counts at existing bridge and park facilities in the Hudson Valley region and at bridges with SUP facilities in other parts of the country
- Step 3: Identify catchment areas and percent of population visiting, as well as modal splits, associated with the surveyed locations based on data collected in Step 2
- Step 4: Develop hourly visitation estimates for the NNYB using different catchment areas based on data from Step 3
- Step 5: Apply appropriate modal splits to hourly visitation estimates to develop parking demand estimates

These steps are described in further detail below. Based on the analysis, it was estimated that potential visitation to the NNYB would result in the demand for 151 parking spaces (97 on the east side of the bridge and 54 on the west side bridge).

DOCUMENT REVIEW

Prior to estimating the parking demand for the NNYB, research was conducted to identify existing bridges with SUP facilities and documentation on parking demand associated with these locations. There were three facilities that were identified for this task due to their relatively similar environment and/or operational characteristics with the proposed NNYB SUP:

- the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge in California;
- the Woodrow Wilson Bridge in Washington, DC; and
- the Cooper River Bridge in South Carolina.

The agencies overseeing these locations were contacted for any background documentation related to designated parking provisions; however, there was no documentation available for the Woodrow Wilson and Cooper River Bridges regarding the parking demand for the SUP. Only the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge in California had limited documentation associated with parking for the SUP facility.

Similar to the proposed NNYB, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge provided an SUP for pedestrians and bicyclists. This pathway is 15.5 feet wide providing one lane in each direction for bicyclists and an outside lane designated for walkers, all at a two percent grade. Currently, the biking and pedestrian paths serve only recreational purposes and are not a transportation facility because the shared-use path spans only half of the bridge. Along this pathway, visitors can enjoy the viewsheds through the use of benches and lookout areas. The environmental impact study for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge did not provide a methodology for estimating the parking demand for the SUP, only stating "Other land uses in the touchdown area have 'informal' parking areas because the land is open and flat. In addition, under BCDC Permit 11-93, Caltrans is required to provide six parking spaces on the south side of the Oakland Touchdown for use by visitors to the view lookout areas." Given the access to informal parking, it was decided that the six formal parking spaces required for this path should not be accounted for in the development of the NNYB parking demand.

IN-PERSON SURVEYS AND DATA COLLECTION

Since there is limited supporting data in the development of parking demand estimates for an SUP, the parking demand estimates for the NNYB were based on in-person surveys (both in the Hudson Valley region and around the country) described below. Of the locations listed above, the Woodrow Wilson and the Cooper River Bridges were surveyed. At the time of this study, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge SUP facility was not completed; therefore, surveys were not conducted at this location.

With limited guidance on developing parking demand estimates at SUP facilities and limited documentation at existing SUP facilities, in-person surveys were conducted to develop visitation characteristics at existing facilities that could be applied to the NNYB. Existing facilities included recreational areas in the Hudson Valley as well as SUPs in the Hudson Valley and other parts of the country. These facilities exhibited characteristics similar to the proposed NNYB SUP or represent similar potential users of the proposed NNYB SUP. The in-person survey (see Attachment A) was developed to capture how far visitors were traveling to reach the recreational destinations (based on originating zip codes) and how visitors arrived to the destination (such as by car, public transit, walking/biking, etc). In addition to the in-person surveys, the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists at each facility were also collected. The data collected was used in the following manner:

- Originating zip codes were used to establish a catchment area for each facility.
- Total visitation was compared to the total population for each catchment area to develop the percent of the population visiting each facility.

- A catchment area for potential visitors to the NNYB was determined based on the catchment areas from the reference SUPs.
- Modal splits (i.e., automobile, bicycle, transit, etc.) from the surveys were used to determine the percentage of visitors that drive to the surveyed facilities. This auto modal split was applied to the visitation estimates for the NNYB in order to determine the number of visitors potentially driving to and parking at the NNYB.

HUDSON VALLEY REGION

In-person surveys of existing visitors at the Hudson Valley region recreational areas and bridges were conducted in May 2014. Users of these facilities (which include biking and/or walking trails or paths) would likely represent users that would be accessing the proposed NNYB SUP. To capture peak usage, surveys were conducted during a weekend day of nice weather from 8:00 AM to 4:00 PM. The surveys were performed at the following eight locations in the Hudson Valley:

- Esposito Trail (Nyack) The Esposito Trail is a one mile-long trail that connects to other trails along the Hudson River. No designated parking is provided. Similar to the NNYB, the Esposito Trail provides a shared-use path for pedestrians and bicyclists. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the Esposito Trail entrance located at the corner of Cedar Hill Avenue and South Franklin Street. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 32 in-person surveys were collected.
- RiverWalk Park (Tarrytown) RiverWalk is a planned 51.5-mile multi-faceted pathway paralleling the Hudson River in Westchester, of which 32.9 miles are completed. Parking is provided at Pierson Park. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the entrance to RiverWalk at Pierson Park. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 112 in-person surveys were collected.
- Walkway Over the Hudson State Historic Park (Poughkeepsie) The Walkway Over the Hudson State Historic Park is a linear walkway spanning the Hudson River. At 212 feet tall and 1.28 miles long, it is the longest, elevated pedestrian bridge in the world. The Walkway Over the Hudson provides a path for pedestrians and bicyclists and provides several amenities (picnic benches, bathroom, and views of the Hudson River). Dedicated parking lots are provided at both ends of the bridge. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the east end of the bridge. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 169 in-person surveys were collected.
- Rockland Lake State Park (Valley Cottage) Rockland Lake State Park provides a multitude of amenities, including bathrooms, hiking trails, and picnic tables. Dedicated parking lots are provided.
  Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the entrances located at the north and south parking lots. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 52 inperson surveys were collected.
- Nyack Beach State Park (Upper Nyack) Nyack Beach State Park is a 76-acre state park with a two-mile riverfront pathway. Dedicated parking is provided. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the entrance on North Broadway Avenue. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 58 in-person surveys were collected.
- Bear Mountain Bridge (Cortlandt) The Bear Mountain Bridge provides a half-mile pedestrian walkway on the south side of the bridge. Bicyclists wishing to use the walkway must walk their bicycles. A dedicated parking lot is located on the west end of the bridge. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the entrance to the pedestrian walkway at the west end of the bridge. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 18 in-person surveys were collected.

- Newburgh—Beacon Bridge (Newburgh) The Newburgh Beacon Bridge provides a 1.5-mile SUP on the south side of the bridge. Dedicated parking lots are located on both ends of the bridge. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the entrance to the SUP at the east end of the bridge. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 26 in-person surveys were collected.
- Rip Van Winkle Bridge (Hudson) The Rip Van Winkle Bridge provides a one-mile long pedestrian walkway on the south side of the bridge. Bicyclists wishing to use the walkway must walk their bicycles. A dedicated parking lot is located on the west end of the bridge. Pedestrian and bicyclist counts and surveys were collected at the entrance to the pedestrian walkway at the west end of the bridge. In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 26 in-person surveys were collected.

A summary of the in-person surveys and data collection is presented in Table 1. Visitors' points of origin (discussed further below) are depicted graphically in Attachment B, and the complete survey results are provided in Attachment C.

As shown in Table 1, there is a wide range in the auto modal splits, as low as 15 percent and as high at 88 percent with an average auto split of 71 percent when combining the data from all eight locations. In addition, the average auto occupancy rate is 1.85 passengers per vehicle.

Surveyed visitors were also asked for their point of origin based on zip codes. The attached figures present the origin zip codes for each surveyed location. These zip codes were used to establish a radius for a catchment area to determine the percentage of population within that catchment area that visited each location. Populations were based on 2010 Decennial Census data and calculated using GIS. The catchment areas and visiting populations were then used to develop a catchment area and potential visitation for the NNYB. Table 2 presents the total population within each catchment area and the average hourly visitation levels.

ADDITIONAL EXISTING SUP FACILITIES

In addition to collecting in-person surveys at locations near the Tappan Zee Bridge or within the Hudson Valley region, surveys were also collected during the last two weekends in June at several bridges with similar shared bicycle and pedestrian paths in similar metropolitan environments. These surveys were conducted at the following three locations:

- George Washington Bridge, New York/New Jersey (1.2 miles) In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 54 in-person surveys were collected.
- Woodrow Wilson Bridge, Washington DC (1.4 miles) In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, 132 in-person surveys were collected.
- Cooper River Bridge, South Carolina (2.4 miles) In addition to collecting the total number of pedestrians and bicyclists, eight in-person surveys were collected.

As with the surveys for the Hudson Valley region described earlier, surveys for the above referenced locations were collected from 8:00 AM - 4:00 PM on a weekend day with nice weather. Table 3 presents the modal splits and hourly visitation at each of these locations. It should be noted that a majority of those surveyed were pedestrians, as bicyclists usually did not stop to take a survey. However, it was observed that bicyclists did not use an auto to get to the bridge but traversed the bridge as part of a longer ride, thus not contributing to the parking demand.

The George Washington Bridge was predominately used by bicyclists throughout the day. A majority (61 percent) of those surveyed arrived by walking to the bridge while 26 percent of surveyed population arrived by auto. Low auto usage can be attributed to:

- Its location: within high populations centers of New York City and adjacent areas of New Jersey and
- Its accessibility: easily accessible by walking and public transit.

The Woodrow Wilson Bridge experienced more pedestrians than bicyclists. The majority of the surveyed population arrived by auto (73 percent). It should be noted that the Woodrow Wilson Bridge is adjacent to a popular park (Jones Point Park, in the city of Alexandria, Virginia on the west side of the Potomac River) and the Tanger Outlets, located on the east side of the Potomac River in Oxon Hill in Prince George's County, Maryland. Visitors of the SUP used these parking areas to access the bridge. The Cooper River Bridge has a similar user profile as the Woodrow Wilson Bridge, however; only eight visitors opted to take the survey, resulting in too small a sample size to extrapolate modal splits.

Given the low auto use at the George Washington Bridge and the negligible number of surveys obtained at the Cooper River Bridge, only the modal split and visitation information from the Woodrow Wilson Bridge was used in determining the parking demand.

PARKING ESTIMATION

In order to estimate a range for the parking demand associated with potential visitors to the NNYB, the following steps were conducted:

- Develop a range of estimated hourly visitation to the NNYB based on different catchment areas.
- Of the total estimated hourly visitation, determine the number of pedestrian visitors, as many of the bicyclists would not drive and park at the facility, but instead traverse the bridge as part of a longer ride.
- Apply the auto modal and split auto occupancy from the in-person surveys to the estimated pedestrian hourly visitation to determine the potential number of vehicles that would need to park each hour.

As presented in Table 2, the catchment areas for the Hudson Valley surveys range from two to 25 miles. Based on these data, three different catchment areas were established to develop a low, medium, and high parking estimates for the NNYB SUP, with the assumption that the larger the catchment area, the higher the visitation. Since the NNYB SUP with limited facilities is expected to draw from a larger area than the Esposito Trail (two miles), a small catchment area was not established and analyzed. Therefore, the following low, medium, and high visitation catchment areas were used:

• 10 Mile Catchment Area (Low estimate) – Three of the Hudson Valley region locations had catchment areas close to 10 miles: RiverWalk Park, Rockland Lake State Park, and Nyack Beach State Park. Of these, RiverWalk and Nyack Beach State Park had the lower percent of population visiting; however, RiverWalk also had the lowest auto modal split at 61 percent. Therefore, the RiverWalk surveys were used to develop the low parking demand estimate.

- 15 Mile Catchment Area (Medium estimate) The average catchment radius for all the Hudson Valley region surveys was 13.7 miles. Since this is close to the 15 mile catchment area used to develop a medium parking demand estimate, the average of the Hudson Valley region survey results were used, with the percent of population visiting at 0.019 percent and an auto split of 71 percent.
- 20 Mile Catchment Area (High estimate) Three of the Hudson Valley region locations had catchment areas close to 20 miles: the Walkway Over the Hudson, the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge, and the Rip Van Winkle Bridge. While the Rip Van Winkle Bridge has a large catchment area (25 miles), it is located in a lower population density area with lower visitation rates. In order to establish a more conservative parking estimate for the NNYB SUP, survey results from the Walkway Over the Hudson were used since it had the highest percent of population visiting (0.035 percent) and the highest auto split at 79 percent.

Table 4 presents the hourly visitation estimates assuming a 10 mile-, 15 mile-, and 20-mile radius catchment area based on the surveys collected above. As shown, the hourly visitation estimates (for both bicyclists and pedestrians) range from 111 visitors (based on the RiverWalk Park surveys) to 1,761 visitors (based on the Walkway Over the Hudson surveys, a high visitation number which is a characteristic typically associated with a major destination).

Based on observations at the reference project sites, bicyclists would likely not drive and park at the bridge. Therefore, pedestrian visitation estimates were developed and used to estimate the parking demand. Based on the surveys collected above, and summarized in Table 5, 81 percent of the users would be classified as pedestrians. Table 6 presents the hourly pedestrian visitation levels and associated parking demand. As shown, the number of parking spaces that would be required ranges from 29 to 606 spaces.

Notes:

- Applied a 19% reduction from hourly visitation in Table 4 to remove bicyclists since Table 5 indicated 81% of visitors were pedestrians.
- 2. From Hudson Valley region in-person surveys
- 3. Hourly Parking Demand = (Hourly Visitation * Modal Split) / Auto Occupancy
- 4. Based on RiverWalk surveys
- 5. The average from the Hudson Valley region surveys resulted in 71% auto split. The surveys from the Woodrow Wilson Bridge resulted in a 73% auto split. Since both produced a similar auto split, the 73% auto split from the Woodrow Wilson Bridge was used to develop a slightly more conservative parking estimate.
- 6. Based on Walkway Over the Hudson

As mentioned above, the high end number is using the assumption that the NNYB SUP would have a similar attraction as the Walkway Over the Hudson, which is designed as a pedestrian and bicycle destination with amenities including a wide travel path and no vehicles in adjacent lanes. However, the NNYB SUP would provide for alternative non-motorized transportation across the Hudson River between Rockland and Westchester Counties, would be substantially longer at approximately 3.1 miles as compared to the Walkway Over the Hudson's 1.2 miles, and would be adjacent to four lanes of vehicular traffic that is part of a regional interstate highway system. Thus, it would be reasonable to conclude that visitation levels and catchment area of the NNYB SUP would not reflect the visitation levels observed at the Walkway Over the Hudson, but instead would more likely resemble the characteristics of some of the other local locations surveyed and the Woodrow Wilson Bridge.

Therefore, an estimate of parking spaces should be based on the 10 mile- and 15 mile-radius catchment areas. As shown in Table 4 above, the 10-mile catchment area would expect to draw an hourly visitation of 111 users, while the 15-mile catchment area would expect to draw an hourly visitation of 473 users. Of these users, 81 percent would be expected to be pedestrians, 61 to 73 percent of which would arrive by auto, depending on the catchment area. Assuming 1.85 persons per auto, as discussed earlier, this would result in 29 parking spaces (16 on the east side, 13 on the west side) for a 10-mile catchment area and 151 parking spaces (97 on the east side and 54 on the west side) for a 15-mile catchment area. Based on the analysis above, the more conservative 151 parking space estimate is recommended.
